Overview:

Angkor Borei News was published irregularly in black and white in four page length. No confirmed source explained about its circulating volume during the early issues. Angkor Borei News is not listed on the homepage of the Ministry of Information (2012). Generally, all newspapers are required by law to have it registered by the Ministry of Information. Being not listed could mean that the paper is no longer in operation. However and interestingly, the Library of Congress record shows that Angkor Borei News is currently published in Fullerton, Orange, CA, USA. It also explains that the description of the record was created based on issue number 53 published in September 30, 1988 and latest issue consulted was vol. 21 no.674, published on December 31, 2006. This information is contradicted to the descriptive information of those issues being held by Yale which shows September 19-20, 195 was the time when its vol. 2 (year 2nd) no. 29 was published. At this point, there is no confirmed source explain if these two publications are the same or different.

Not much different from other typical Khmer language newspapers, Angkor Borei News covered mainly the local political news. No education or Khmer literary section included. According those issues held by Yale shows that most of its articles, editorials and cartoons irregularly appeared were highly critical of the opposition voice includes those newspapers aligned with the opposition party as well as the politicians of the party. In contrast, the papers highly praised the King and Samdech Hun Sen, then the second prime minister.
