We've chosen some of our favorite patents from our holdings for you to color.

We'd love to see how you color them in—share them with us on Twitter by using the hashtag #ColorOurCollections and tagging @usnatarchives.

These patents came from the Records of the Patent and Trademark Office (Record Group 241). And you can find even more of our fascinating patents online by searching our digital catalog https://catalog.archives.gov.
J. A. EARL.
Candle Holder and Dish for Birthday Cakes.
(Application filed Dec. 17, 1900.)

Patent for candle holder and dish for birthday cakes, 1901.
Toy Circus.
Patented March 29, 1881.

Fig. 1.

Fig. 2.

Fig. 3.

239,340. TOY CIRCUS. WILLIAM B. REED, LEOMINSTER, MASS. FILED MAR. 15, 1881 (S.E. MODEL)

Claims-1. In a toy circus, two or more arms, B, forming a base for the block A, said arms being adapted in fold or close together, in combination with a central post, D, and suitable head-ers for exhibiting the figures, substantially as described.

2. In a toy circus, a revolving post, D, and platform C, provided with means for holding the figures in place, in combination with the arms B, forming a base and adapted to fold or close together, substantially as described.

...In a toy circus, the wheel B, pivoted within the stationary central block, X, and provided with a post D, and platform C, having holes or sockets for the reception of rods supporting the figures, in combination, and connected by a belt, Z, with the pulley, E, turned by a crank, J, at the outer end of one of the arms B of the folding base, constructed and arranged to operate substantially as described.

Inventor:

William B. Reed,

Per Norman W. Stearns.
Patent for a toy horse, 1867.
Patent for a one-wheeled vehicle, 1885.

Fig. 1.

Fig. 2.

Witnesses:
Andrew B. Ingalls.
John H. Reynolds.

Inventor:
John Otto Loew
By: John F. Kerr
Attorney
Patent for eye protectors for chickens, 1903.
Patent for saluting device, 1869.
Patent for a hammock, 1889.
Patent for sandwiched bread, 1881.
Patent for a mechanical toy, 1901.
Patent for a lighter for mechanized equipment, 1944. (Recognize it? This became the troop lander used at D-day landings.)
Patent for a base ball catcher, 1901.
Patent for a combined lounge robe and jacket, 1934.